Confronting Assault Weapons in Society

Fourteen years have passed since the federal Assault Weapons Ban on military-style firearms expired in 2004. Since then, more than 887 people have been killed and more than 1,578 injured by these weapons.

Towns like Parkland, Las Vegas, Newtown, Aurora and San Bernardino and are now known for the mass shootings that shocked the nation. Mass murders in these towns and others across America demonstrate all too clearly the need to regulate deadly assault weapons and high-capacity ammunition magazines.

On November 8, 2017, we introduced a new Assault Weapons Ban of 2017. This legislation, stronger than the 1994 bill, has two primary goals:

- First, halt the sale, manufacture, transfer and importation of 205 of the most commonly-owned military-style assault weapons and ban an additional group of assault weapons that are particularly lethal because they can accept a detachable ammunition magazine and have one or more military characteristics.
- Second, ban large-capacity magazines and other ammunition feeding devices that hold more than 10 rounds of ammunition. These devices allow shooters to fire numerous rounds in rapid succession without having to reload.

We firmly believe that weapons designed for war have no place on the streets of a civilized society. We must enforce existing law and enact commonsense measures to stop the proliferation of military-style assault weapons while protecting the rights of law-abiding citizens who use guns for hunting, household defense or legitimate recreational purposes.

This is critical if we are to make the streets of America safer. Please learn more about this issue and get involved.

Sincerely,

Dianne Feinstein
United States Senator

It's time to bring back the assault weapons ban, gun violence experts say

By Christopher Ingraham

February 15, 2018

The perpetrator of Wednesday's horrific school shooting in Parkland, Fla., purchased his military-style assault weapon legally. So did the man who shot more than 400 people in Las Vegas in October. So did the man who gunned down 49 people at Orlando's Pulse nightclub in 2016. So did the man who gunned down 26 worshipers at a church in Texas in November.

Easy-to-obtain assault weapons, once banned under U.S. law, are a common thread connecting many of the deadliest mass shootings that have occurred in the past few years. Many gun violence experts believe that it's time to bring back the federal assault weapons ban — or at least something like it.

“You would see drastic reductions in what I call gun massacres” with the return of the 1994 federal assault weapons ban, said Louis Klarevas of the University of Massachusetts at Boston.

For his 2016 book “Rampage Nation,” Klarevas collected data on every gun massacre — which he defines as six or more people shot and killed — for the 50 years before 2016. His aim was to see whether there was any change in the number of gun massacres while the 10-year federal ban on assault weapons was in place.

He calls the results “staggering.” Compared with the 10-year period before the ban, the number of gun massacres during the ban period fell by 37 percent, and the number of people dying from gun massacres fell by 43 percent. But after the ban lapsed in 2004, the numbers shot up again — an astonishing 183 percent increase in massacres and a 239 percent increase in massacre deaths.

Klarevas says that the key provision of the assault weapons bill was a ban on high-capacity magazines capable of holding more than 10 rounds. “We have found that when large capacity mags are regulated, you get drastic drops in both the incidence of gun massacres and the fatality rate of gun massacres.” The opinion is shared among many researchers who study gun violence for a living. In 2016, for instance, the New York Times asked 32 gun policy experts to rate the effectiveness of a variety of policy changes to prevent mass shootings. The roster of experts included violence prevention researchers like Harvard's David Hemenway, as well as more ideologically driven gun rights advocates like John Lott.

On a scale of effectiveness ranging from 1 (not effective) to 10 (highly effective), the expert panel gave an average score of 6.8 to both an assault weapons ban and a ban on high-capacity magazines, the highest ratings among the nearly 30 policies surveyed.

The killers in recent incidents like Las Vegas, Orlando and Sutherland Springs were each able to walk into a gun shop in the days and months before their attacks, and legally purchase their assault weapons and magazines after passing a standard background check. Under an assault weapons ban, that wouldn't be possible.

Gun rights groups like the National Rifle Association oppose such bans. They point out that most owners of such weapons are law-abiding citizens, and that the millions of the guns and magazines in circulation would make enforcement of any such ban a challenge. They also note, correctly, that the overwhelming majority of gun homicides are committed with handguns, making the impact of an assault weapons ban on the overall crime rate minimal.

ASSAULT WEAPONS BAN OF 2017

Supporters of an assault weapons ban, like Sen. Dianne Feinstein (D-Calif.), say that the goal of the bans is to prevent horrific mass shooting incidents, not stop the run-of-the-mill gun violence that kills dozens of Americans each day. Feinstein, along with 22 Democratic colleagues, introduced an assault weapons ban in the Senate after the Sutherland Springs shooting in Texas.

“This bill won’t stop every mass shooting, but it will begin removing these weapons of war from our streets,” Feinstein said in a statement. “Yes, it will be a long process to reduce the massive supply of these assault weapons in our country, but we’ve got to start somewhere.”

Feinstein's bill would ban 205 specific “military-style assault weapons” by name, and it more broadly bans firearms containing a detachable magazine and one or more “military characteristics,” including “a pistol grip, a forward grip, a barrel shroud, a threaded barrel or a folding or telescoping stock.” Current owners would be allowed to keep their existing weapons.

Feinstein's bill would also ban high-capacity magazines capable of holding more than 10 rounds of ammunition.

A number of surveys show that bans on assault weapons and high-capacity magazines are popular among the general public. A 2017 Pew Research Center poll found that 68 percent of adults favor banning assault weapons, and 65 percent support a ban on high-capacity magazines.

More strikingly, substantial numbers of gun owners supported the measures as well: 48 percent of gun owners in that poll said they would support a ban on assault style weapons, and 44 percent said they favored a ban on high-capacity magazines. A Quinnipiac poll conducted later in the year showed similar numbers.

While these measures may be popular among the public, Republicans in Congress have effectively stymied the passage of any significant gun control legislation for well over a decade. The last significant gun control measure passed by Congress was a modest package of improvements to the background check system in 2007. It was supported by the NRA.

In recent years congressional Republicans have been more focused on expanding access to guns, rather than limiting it. In December the House passed a measure that would allow gun owners with concealed carry permits in one state to carry their weapons in every other state. The experts polled by the New York Times in 2016 rated that as the least effective measure, by far, for dealing with mass shootings.

With AR-15s, Mass Shooters Attack With the Rifle Firepower Typically Used by Infantry Troops

By: C. J. Chivers, Larry Buchanan, Denise Lu and Karen Yourish
February 28, 2018

When a gunman walked into Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School on Feb. 14, he was carrying an AR-15-style rifle that allowed him to fire upon people in much the same way that many American soldiers and Marines would fire their M16 and M4 rifles in combat.

Since 2007, at least 173 people have been killed in mass shootings in the United States involving AR-15s, according to a New York Times analysis. The grim list includes crimes in Newtown, Conn.; Las Vegas; San Bernardino, Calif.; and now Parkland, Fla.

The main functional difference between the military's M16 and M4 rifles and a civilian AR-15 is the "burst" mode on many military models, which allow three rounds to be fired with one trigger pull. Some military versions of the rifles have a full automatic feature, which fires until the trigger is released or a magazine is empty of ammunition.

But in actual American combat these technical differences are less significant than they seem. For decades the American military has trained its conventional troops to fire their M4s and M16s in the semiautomatic mode — one bullet per trigger pull — instead of on "burst" or automatic in almost all shooting situations. The weapons are more accurate this way, and thus more lethal.

The National Rifle Association and other pro-gun groups highlight the fully automatic feature in military M4s and M16s. But the American military, after a long experience with fully automatic M16s reaching back to Vietnam, decided by the 1980s to issue M16s, and later M4s, to most conventional troops without the fully automatic function, and to train them to fire in a more controlled fashion.

What all of this means is that the Parkland gunman, in practical terms, had the same rifle firepower as an American grunt using a standard infantry rifle in the standard way.

Representative Brian Mast of Florida, a Republican and an Army combat veteran, has called for a ban on the sale of AR-15-style rifles.

"The exact definition of assault weapon will need to be determined," Mr. Mast said. "But we should all be able to agree that the civilian version of the very deadly weapon that the Army issued to me should certainly qualify."

Joe Plenzler, a 20-year combat veteran of the Marine Corps, is part of a social media movement of military veterans, including those who served in Afghanistan and Iraq, calling for reforms on the sale or possession of modern military-style firearms.

"They are the Formula One cars of guns, designed to kill as many people as quickly and efficiently as possible," Mr. Plenzler said, referring to AR-15-style rifles. "We are seeing battlefield-level casualties because we are allowing those weapons on our street," he said.

Like the military's M4s and M16s, civilian AR-15s are fed with box magazines — the standard magazine holds 30 rounds, or cartridges — that can be swapped out quickly, allowing a gunman to fire more than a hundred rounds in minutes. That is what the police described the Parkland gunman as having done. In many states, civilians can buy magazines that hold many more rounds, including 60- and 100-round versions.

A New York Times analysis of a video from a Florida classroom estimates that during his crime the gunman fired his AR-15 as quickly as one-and-a-half rounds per second. The military trains soldiers to fire at a sustained rate of 12 to 15 rounds per minute, or a round every four or five seconds.

The small-caliber, high-velocity rounds used in the military rifles are identical to those sold for the civilian weapons. They have been documented inflicting grievous bone and soft-tissue wounds. Both civilian and military models of the rifle are lightweight and have very little recoil.

A federal ban on the manufacture of certain rifles deemed to be “assault weapons” took effect in 1994, and the list of covered rifles included the AR-15.

Since the ban expired in 2004, the number of rifles manufactured in the United States increased three-fold to four million in 2013. That was one year after a gunman killed his mother and then 26 others at Sandy Hook Elementary School in Newtown, Conn.

What I Saw Treating the Victims From Parkland Should Change the Debate on Guns

By Heather Sher

As I opened the CT scan last week to read the next case, I was baffled. The history simply read “gunshot wound.” I have been a radiologist in one of the busiest trauma centers in the United States for 13 years, and have diagnosed thousands of handgun injuries to the brain, lung, liver, spleen, bowel, and other vital organs. I thought that I knew all that I needed to know about gunshot wounds, but the specific pattern of injury on my computer screen was one that I had seen only once before.

Routine handgun injuries leave entry and exit wounds and linear tracks through the victim’s body that are roughly the size of the bullet. If the bullet does not directly hit something crucial like the heart or the aorta, and the victim does not bleed to death before being transported to our care at the trauma center, chances are that we can save him. The bullets fired by an AR-15 are different: They travel at a higher velocity and are far more lethal than routine bullets fired from a handgun. The damage they cause is a function of the energy they impart as they pass through the body. A typical AR-15 bullet leaves the barrel traveling almost three times faster than—and imparting more than three times the energy of—a typical 9mm bullet from a handgun. An AR-15 rifle outfitted with a magazine with 50 rounds allows many more lethal bullets to be delivered quickly without reloading.

I have seen a handful of AR-15 injuries in my career. Years ago I saw one from a man shot in the back by a SWAT team. The injury along the path of the bullet from an AR-15 is vastly different from a low-velocity handgun injury. The bullet from an AR-15 passes through the body like a cigarette boat traveling at maximum speed through a tiny canal. The tissue next to the bullet is elastic—moving away from the bullet like waves of water displaced by the boat—and then returns and settles back. This process is called cavitation; it leaves the displaced tissue damaged or killed. The high-velocity bullet causes a swath of tissue damage that extends several inches from its path. It does not have to actually hit an artery to damage it and cause catastrophic bleeding. Exit wounds can be the size of an orange.

ASSAULT WEAPONS BAN OF 2017

With an AR-15, the shooter does not have to be particularly accurate. The victim does not have to be unlucky. If a victim takes a direct hit to the liver from an AR-15, the damage is far graver than that of a simple handgun-shot injury. Handgun injuries to the liver are generally survivable unless the bullet hits the main blood supply to the liver. An AR-15 bullet wound to the middle of the liver would cause so much bleeding that the patient would likely never make it to the trauma center to receive our care.

ASSAULT WEAPONS BAN OF 2017

What the Assault Weapons Ban of 2017 Does

Assault Weapons -Bans the sale, transfer, manufacture and importation of:

- 205 specifically-named weapons including the Bushmaster, Smith & Wesson M&P15, AK-47, Streetsweeper and others (list begins on page 14);
- All semiautomatic rifles and handguns that can accept a detachable magazine and have at least one military feature;
- All semiautomatic rifles and handguns that have a fixed magazine with the capacity to accept more than 10 rounds or are belt fed;
- All semiautomatic shotguns that have a detachable magazine, revolving cylinder, fixed magazine capable of accepting more than 5 rounds or at least one military feature.

What is an assault weapon?

- Any semiautomatic rifle or handgun that accepts a detachable magazine and has at least one military feature.
- Any semiautomatic rifle or handgun with a fixed magazine that accepts more than 10 rounds.
- Any semiautomatic shotgun with one of the following characteristics: detachable magazine, revolving cylinder, fixed magazine that accepts more than 5 rounds or at least one military feature.
- Any belt-fed semiautomatic firearm.

High-Capacity Magazines -Bans the sale, transfer, manufacture and importation of:

- All ammunition feeding devices (magazines, strips and drums) capable of accepting more than 10 rounds.

Aftermarket Modifications and Workarounds -Bans:

- Bump or slide fire stocks, which are modified stocks that allow semi-automatic weapons to fire at rates similar to fully automatic machine guns.
- So-called “bullet buttons” that allow the rapid replacement of ammunition magazines, frequently used as a workaround to prohibitions on detachable magazines.
- Thumbhole stocks, a type of stock that was created as a workaround to avoid prohibitions on pistol grips.

Weapons Excluded from the Bill -Protects the Following Weapons:

- Any weapon that is lawfully possessed at the date of the bill’s enactment;
- 2,200 legitimate hunting and sporting rifles and shotguns are excluded from the bill by specific make and model;
- Any gun manually operated by a bolt, pump, lever or slide action;
- Semiautomatic assault weapons used by military, law enforcement and retired law enforcement; and
- Antique weapons.

ASSAULT WEAPONS BAN OF 2017

Requiring background checks on assault weapon transfers

The Assault Weapons Ban only prohibits assault weapons not yet manufactured. However, an estimated 18 million to 35 million assault weapons have already been legally manufactured.

The Justice Department estimates that loopholes allow approximately 40 percent of these items to be transferred to new owners without background checks. That means 7 million to 14 million assault weapons are owned by individuals who have not undergone background checks.

The Assault Weapon Ban closes these dangerous loopholes by requiring background checks on all transfers of assault weapons covered by the legislation including sale, trade, gift, etc.

Safeguarding existing weapons and high-capacity magazines

The Assault Weapons Ban requires that grandfathered assault weapons be stored safely using a secure gun storage or safety device to keep them away from criminals and the mentally ill. The bill also prohibits the sale or transfer of high-capacity ammunition feeding devices that are currently in existence.

Stopping “copycat” guns

The bill bans all semiautomatic assault weapons with detachable magazines and one or more military characteristics.

Those military characteristics are:

RIFLES

- Pistol grip
- Forward grip
- Folding, telescoping or detachable stock
- Grenade or rocket launcher
- Barrel shroud
- Threaded barrel

PISTOLS

- Threaded barrel
- Second pistol grip
- Barrel shroud
- Detachable magazine capacity outside of the pistol grip
- Semiautomatic version of an automatic firearm

SHOTGUNS

- Folding, telescoping or detachable stock
- Pistol grip
- Fixed magazine capacity greater than five rounds
- Detachable magazine capacity
- Forward grip
- Grenade launcher or rocket launcher

“Sen. Dianne Feinstein again is leading the charge to protect public safety through common-sense gun violence prevention. As a prosecutor, I strongly support her legislation to ban assault weapons—the go-to weapon for mass shooters intent on committing mass carnage. All of us will be safer when assault weapons are banned once more.”

“The Coalition to Stop Gun Violence has consistently advocated for the renewal of the assault weapons ban since its expiration in 2004. AR-15 assault rifles have become the favored weapon of American mass shooters, it is time to get them off of our streets. These weapons of war are intended to do one thing—kill as many people in as short amount of time as possible. Their features are designed to maximize lethality, to shatter the inside of a human body. We have seen three of the deadliest mass shootings in our nation's history just since October. The prevalence of assault rifles and high capacity magazines is a primary reason why. The ease and availability of these weapons aid these horrific events. It is time for Congress to take action and restore this commonsense ban.”

Presidents who have supported a ban on assault weapons

- President Barack Obama called for reinstatement of the ban as part of his plan to reduce gun violence announced on January 16, 2013.
- President George W. Bush supported the ban. At an October 2004 presidential debate, he said, “We ought to extend the assault weapons ban.”
- 2012 Republican presidential nominee Mitt Romney signed an assault weapons ban into law as governor of Massachusetts.

The following letter was sent to the House of Representatives by Presidents Ford, Carter and Reagan supporting a ban on military-style assault weapons:

May 3, 1994

To Members of the U.S. House of Representatives:

We are writing to urge your support for a ban on the domestic manufacture of military-style assault weapons. This is a matter of vital importance to the public safety. Although assault weapons account for less than 1% of the guns in circulation, they account for nearly 10% of the guns traced to crime.

Every major law enforcement organization in America and dozens of leading labor, medical, religious, civil rights and civic groups support such a ban. Most importantly, poll after poll shows that the American public overwhelmingly support a ban on assault weapons. A 1993 CNN/USA Today/Gallup Poll found that 77% of Americans support a ban on the manufacture, sale, and possession of semi-automatic assault guns, such as the AK-47.

The 1989 import ban resulted in an impressive 40% drop in imported assault weapons traced to crime between 1989 and 1991, but the killing continues. Last year, a killer armed with two TEC9s killed eight people at a San Francisco law firm and wounded several others. During the past five years, more than 40 law enforcement officers have been killed or wounded in the line of duty by an assault weapon.

While we recognize that assault weapon legislation will not stop all assault weapon crime, statistics prove that we can dry up the supply of these guns, making them less accessible to criminals. We urge you to listen to the American public and to the law enforcement community and support a ban on the further manufacture of these weapons.

Sincerely,

Gerald R. Ford

Jimmy Carter

Ronald Reagan

ASSAULT WEAPONS BAN OF 2017

Assault weapons and high-capacity magazines destroy families, communities

Since the Assault Weapons Ban expired in 2004, 887 people have been killed and 1,578 injured by military-style assault weapons. Below are a few recent examples of the horrific acts that have been committed with these weapons:

- Parkland, Fla.—On February 14, 2018, a 19-year-old former student uses an M&P15 AR-15 military style rifle to murder 17 students and educators and wounds many others during an attack at the Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School.
- Sutherland Springs, Texas: On November 6, 2017, an Assailant with a history of criminal charges for domestic violence uses a Ruger AR-556 Rifle to murder 26 innocent churchgoers and wound nearly 20 others at the First Baptist Church. The victims included multiple children and ranged in ages from 18 months to 77 years old.
- Las Vegas, Nev.—On October 1, 2017: A shooter armed with more than 20 assault style weapons and 12 bump-fire stocks fires from hotel room to kill 58 people and wound over 500 others at the Route 91 Harvest Country Music Festival. This was the deadliest shooting in American history.
- Orlando, Fla.—On June 12, 2016 a shooter used a Sig Sauer MCX assault rifle to kill 49 innocent victims and wound 58 at an LGBT nightclub. This hate crime and terror attack was the deadliest incident of violence against LGBT people in our nation's history.
- Wilkesburg, Pa.—On March 9, 2016 two shooters ambushed an outdoor house party using an AK-47 style weapon to kill 6 victims, including a pregnant woman, and wound several others.
- San Bernardino, Calif.—On December 2, 2015 two shooters motivated by terrorists used AR-15 style weapons to murder 14 and wound more than 20 others during a work event at the Inland Regional Center.
- Chattanooga, Tenn.—On July 16, 2015 a gunman motivated by foreign terrorists attacked U.S. Navy Reserve installation and military recruiting center with AK-47 style weapon. Four marines and one sailor were killed in the attack and several others were injured.
- Newtown, Conn.—On December 14, 2012, 26 people were killed, including 20 children, when a gunman opened fire at Sandy Hook Elementary School. The gunman was armed with a Bushmaster semiautomatic assault rifle and other firearms.
- Oak Creek, Wis.—On August 5, 2012, six worshippers were killed and three injured when a gunman opened fire at a Sikh temple. The gunman was armed with a handgun and three 19-round magazines.
- Aurora, Colo.—On July 20, 2012, 12 people were killed and 58 injured when a gunman opened fire in a movie theater. He used a Smith & Wesson M&P15 semiautomatic assault-style rifle and other firearms. The assault rifle was fed by a 100-round ammunition drum. Had the drum not malfunctioned after 30 rounds had been fired, the shooter would likely have caused even more carnage.

“I have dedicated the rest of my life to fighting for the cause of gun safety. I will not stop. No other parent should ever go through what my family and 16 other families are going through.”

—Fred Guttenberg, father of Jaime Guttenberg, killed in Parkland shooting

ASSAULT WEAPONS BAN OF 2017

Assault weapon bans have a record of success

In the years following the enactment of the 1994 ban, the number of crimes that involved assault weapons dropped:

- The use of assault weapons in crime declined by 70% nine years after the 1994 Assault Weapons Ban took effect, according to a study conducted for the Justice Department.
 - Source: Christopher S. Koper, “An Updated Assessment of the Federal Assault Weapons Ban: Impacts on Gun Markets and Gun Violence, 1994-2003,” University of Pennsylvania (June 2004). http://www.sas.upenn.edu/jerrylee/research/aw_final2004.pdf.
- While the primary goal of the ban was to reduce the frequency and deadliness of mass shootings, an October 2017 study in the Journal of Urban Health found that law enforcement recovery of assault weapons in cities nationwide fell while the ban was in place—indicating they were used in fewer crimes—but increased after the ban expired. In Boston, for example, 72 percent fewer assault weapons were recovered by police while the ban was in effect.

- When Maryland imposed a more stringent ban on assault pistols and high-capacity magazines in 1994, it led to a 55% drop in assault pistols recovered by the Baltimore Police Department.
